

Richard King, M.D.

Medical Director

C. Richard King, M.D. is the Medical Director at Clear Passage. Dr. King is a Board Certified American College of Obstetrics and Gynecology physician with more than 40 years of clinical and surgical experience. He received his M.D. at the Medical College of Georgia in 1972, and completed his residency at the University of Florida College of Medicine in 1976.

In addition to his decades of clinical experience in private practice, he has over 20 years experience in medical research, as an investigator and author for studies focused on women's health issues. He has served as Chief of Staff at North Florida Regional Medical Center, and as Chairman of that hospital's institutional review board (IRB) – a position that gave him in-depth knowledge and oversight of the processes for gathering data and assuring patient safety in a wide variety of clinical trials.

As the medical director of the multicenter Florida Medical Research unit, he gained extensive experience in the direct oversight and management of multiple concurrent clinical trial protocols. His dual background in medicine and clinical research provides him with a unique perspective on patient safety and study design as he leads the Clear Passage team in testing and measuring results of the Clear Passage Approach.

“I help bring oversight and guidance for research efforts. My 40+ years of medical and surgical experience and my interest in exploring effective new therapies, such as those offered by Clear Passage, provide me with a unique opportunity to oversee, teach, learn and grow.”
